

Dr. Mark Stein Shares The Future Of Leadership In Forbes Magazine

NEW YORK ORAL & MAXILLOFACIAL SURGERY, DENTAL IMPLANT CENTER

New York City, New York, Sept. 19, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Top New York City Oral Surgeon, Mark Stein, DDS, MD is featured in Forbes Magazine! Dr. Stein, founder of New York Oral & Maxillofacial Surgery, is among ten entrepreneurs from a variety of different industries to weigh in on what the future of leadership could look like. Dr. Stein explains how compassion and technology will converge in the future. Foreseeing healthcare to develop as a commodity-driven service, Dr. Stein expects AI to be a safeguard for worker shortages and that the doctor-patient relationship will remain paramount in healthcare.

"In our ever-evolving consumer-centric society, the leaders of healthcare will need to bridge the gap and realize that patients view healthcare, as we view all services, as a commodity," says Dr. Stein. "We need to provide patients with a platform that combines evolving technologies, such as AI, helping to replace workforce shortages, while maintaining the personalized and transparent doctor-patient relationship that is central to fostering trust and care."

With a paradigm shift happening in the workforce due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the emergence of remote work, and other underlying factors, workers now seek an improved work-life balance that puts mental health first. Mitigating burnout and workplace happiness are priorities for Dr. Stein and other founders, CEOs, and entrepreneurs.
